

Nashville Union.

SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 31, 1862.

We have a large quantity of old newspapers, suitable for wrapping paper, which we will dispose of at 40 cts per hundred.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, NASHVILLE.—In accordance with the Special Order of Col. MILLER, appropriating the Second Presbyterian Church a Post Chapel under the direction and control of the local members, all officers and soldiers of the United States, all strangers who may happen to be in the city, as well as the citizens of Nashville, are cordially invited to attend Divine service at said Church.

Preaching this morning at 10 o'clock, A. M., by Rev. J. R. Eads, Chaplain 4th Ky. Regiment.

We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. R. D. MANN. He has been solicited by his old friends and patrons to open a select school for boys; and having accepted of their wishes, he proposes to commence his session on Monday, September 2nd. His terms are very liberal. All persons desiring to enter pupils, should call on him at 91 North College Street.

Gen. CANNONER, one of NAPOLEON's heroic officers, a sturdy soldier who believed in fighting, and not in running, exclaimed, at Waterloo, "The Old Guard never surrenders!"

Some of our parlor officers, who draw their pay with astonishing promptness, when they are sent out to protect our railroads, modify CANNONER's sentiment by saying, "The Bridge Guard never surrenders!"

Mammoth Corn.

Mr. JOHN H. TAYLOR, residing at Taylor's Gap, on the Dickinson Pike, has sent us a stalk of corn measuring eighteen and a-half feet, and thick in proportion. He calls it Union Corn, and it would make a fine flag-staff for a large Star-spangled Banner. We acknowledge the corn, with many thanks to friend TAYLOR. May his crop never be any shorter.

We are indebted to ADAMS EXPRESS Company for New York and Philadelphia papers of the 29th inst. They are very acceptable.

We are indebted to a friend of generosity and discrimination for a Louisville Journal of the 29th inst. Such favors will be highly esteemed during the detention of our mails by dry weather, and other hindrances, too tedious to mention.

We are indebted to Messrs. HANDE & Co., for late papers. If there are late papers in the city they are sure to have them.

The rebel quid nuncs and street newsmongers were thrown into great excitement by the appearance of a lantern-jawed, knock-kneed, aquiline-nosed, tow-headed, bang-dog looking fellow, dressed in a suit which seemed to be made of dirty dish-towels, with a boot on one foot and a piece of a shoe on the other, who entered the city yesterday carrying on the end of a stick a dirty looking cotton handkerchief, meant for a flag of truce, with which stylish looking banner he went to Gen. ROUSSEAU's headquarters. Secessionists instantly noticed it abroad that BRAGO, KIRBY SMITH, FRANK ORATEUR, and Lord knows who else, were with in a few miles of the city with ten, fifteen, thirty thousand troops, and had sent in this forlorn looking wight to demand the surrender of the city. Ahem! How the wild asses snuff up the East wind! It turned out that the rebels at Clarksville, getting frightened at the punishment which is being prepared for them, had sent a message offering to give up the government, hay, corn, &c., to our authorities, provided they would promise not to levy contributions of provender, etc., on the Secesh heresabouts! The rebels have the impudence of the devil, but, we rather think, their stylish Embassador, Envoy Extraordinary, and Minister Plenipotentiary, returned with a flea in his dirty ear. He was a spy, no doubt, and deserved a place in jail. We tell those Clarksville plunders that the Government will make them suffer severely for their rascality.

We learn that several drinking-shops have been closed for selling liquor to soldiers. If they have not, they ought to be. The drunkenness to be seen every day upon our streets is highly detrimental to the public welfare, and the good order of the army, and if tolerated will produce intolerable evils. Stop it at once.

THEATRE.—Our splendid company increases in favor nightly; and we are pleased to observe that the attention and applause bestowed upon them by crowded houses acts as an incentive to further exertions on their part to please the public. We think the drama of "Giraldi" was much better played on Saturday night than on its first representation—the performers feeling easier in their respective characters. To night we are to have "Pizarro, or the Death of Rollo," the cast embracing the whole strength of the company. Mr. DUFFELL will sing the music of the "High Priest." To wind up with "The Two Honycastle."

Passengers for Louisville will remember that J. L. EBLE's regular line of Stages leaves this evening at 6 o'clock for Franklin, Ky., connecting there with the cars for Louisville. Office at Sewanee House.

Latest from Cumberland Gap.

Gen. Morgan's Force all Safe.

Great Destitution of the Rebels.

The Louisville Journal, of the 29th, says: Lieut. A. J. Harrington, of company A, and Lieut. Morton, of company P, 22nd Kentucky Infantry, arrived from Cumberland Gap last evening, having left the Gap on Saturday last. They bring a most gratifying report from Gen. Morgan's gallant little band of loyal troops who have possession of the Gap. General Morgan feels confident that he can hold his position against any force that may threaten him. The troops under his command are in the enjoyment of most excellent health, and have supplies which will last them for sixty days. Foraging parties are sent out regularly into Fowell's Valley, which make gratifying returns in the shape of provisions and forage. There is a rebel force of from fifty to sixty thousand surrounding the Gap, fully one-half of which occupies Gen. Morgan's rear, but our troops feel confident that they cannot be dispossessed of their mountain stronghold. Lieutenants Harrington and Morton have been ordered home on the recruiting service.

The Editor of the Commonwealth learns by private letter to a citizen of Frankfort from the Gap, of the date of the 20th, that the enemy on this side of the mountain is said to consist of eight regiments of infantry, three thousand cavalry, and six pieces of artillery. The Home Guards have fired on them at different times, with what result is not known. The correspondent says: "We have rations to last us at least fifty days. We have full rations of bacon and beef for thirty-eight days, and by reducing them we could make them last sixty. Of rice, hominy, and beans, we have enough for 112 days. Breadstuffs we have only for fifteen days, but can grind our hominy on the mill, and make rations that will last much longer than an enemy can live on Cumberland river." The correspondent says the officers many of them are very anxious to go out and meet the enemy, but General Morgan will not allow it. He says the pickets were firing all day of the 19th and 20th on the south side of the mountain, with little damage in all probability to either side. The enemy were seen about Patterson's, two and a-half miles south, and some dozen shells were thrown amongst them. Our readers will see from this that the enemy are besieging General Morgan, and the rumors of a repulse may have some foundation in fact.

A gentleman who left General W. Morgan's camp, at Cumberland Gap, says, that a few weeks ago eight hundred Tennesseeans made their appearance in a body, and nearly all volunteered. There was a company of forty-five Georgians and North Carolinians who came in and volunteered the day before he left the Gap. The rebel troops are living chiefly on apples and roasting ears. The "transportation" of eight regiments that invaded Kentucky consisted of two wagons.

The number of emigrants arrived at New York for the week ending on the 21st was 772. The total number this year is 37,418.

LATEST FROM VIRGINIA.

Pope and Burnside Join McClellan.

UNION VICTORY!

Rebels in Full Retreat from Manassas.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 30, 1862.

To S. C. Mercer:

The last news is encouraging. Pope and Burnside have effected a junction with General McClellan. Hooker's, Stricker's and Sumner's divisions fought and drove back the rebels from Manassas Junction.

Glorious News from Virginia!

Gen. Hooker's Signal Victory over the Rebels!

DISPATCH FROM GEN. POPE

Great and Complete Federal Victory

Federal Loss 8,000!

Rebel Loss 12,000 to 18,000!

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—The Washington Star of last evening contains the following: We have satisfactory information relative to the force that suddenly appeared between the position of the army corps of Jackson and Stuart's independent cavalry corps. They consisted of infantry and artillery, and marched forty thousand strong from near Waterloo, on the head waters of the Rappahannock, around by White Plains and by Manassas, about forty miles, in two directions, without wagons, tents, or knapsacks, leaving their baggage to be transported by wagons, with the army of Lee following them, instead of fighting a portion of Stuart's cavalry at Manassas. Day before yesterday Taylor's brigade was confronted by the greater portion of Jackson's corps d'armee, Maj. General Jackson, Ewell, Talliaferro, Hill, Stuart, and General-in-Chief Robert Lee, or his son, Brig.-Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, being present at Manassas during the engagement.

Hooker's battle day before yesterday was a gratifying success. HEADQUARTERS, BATTLE-FIELD, GORTON'S, Near Gainesville, Aug. 30th.

Maj. Gen. HALLACK: We fought a terrific battle here yesterday with the combined forces of the enemy, which lasted with continuous fury from daylight until after dark, by which time the enemy was driven from the field, which we now occupy.

Our troops are too much exhausted to push matters, but I shall do so in the course of the morning, as soon as Fitzhugh Lee's corps comes up from Manassas.

The enemy is still in our front, but badly used up. We have lost not less than eight thousand men killed and wounded, and from appearance of the field the enemy has lost at least two to one.

We acted strictly on the offensive, and every assault was made by ourselves. Our troops behaved splendidly. The battle was fought on the identical battlefield of Bull Run, which greatly increased the enthusiasm of our men.

News just reaches me from the front that the enemy is retreating towards the mountains. I go forward at once to see.

We have made great captures, but I am not able yet to form an idea of their extent.

(Signed) JOHN POPE, Maj. Gen. Commanding.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—It is not true, as stated, that Gen. McClellan has been appointed or placed in command of Federal forces in Virginia. Maj. Gen. Halleck is commander-in-chief; Gen. McClellan, Pope, and others, in command of their respective divisions.
